IB DP Language & Literature (Japanese) This is a great opportunity for a high school teacher of Japanese to join an innovative international school. The position would be suitable for a Kokugo teacher who would like to explore international education and develop pedagogical skills within the rapidly expanding International Baccalaureate's Diploma Programme. Training is provided by the school. English language skills are not necessary, however as the overall academic programme is delivered in English the position would also be a great opportunity to develop English language skills over time. There are many benefits to working in an international school environment, including over 3 months of holidays per year. The position starts in August 2024.
